

BIS 143 : Application Programming using C++

This course provides an introduction to elementary computer programming using the C++ language. Topics covered include variables, expressions, statements, sequential execution, selection, iteration, subroutines, simple data structures, structured programming, algorithm development, and debugging.

Credits 3

Prerequisite Courses

BIS 140: Programming Concepts

Prerequisites

or a programming language.