

FNA 101 : Introduction to Creative Therapies

Introduction to music and art as therapeutic agents in the rehabilitation and reorganization of human beings into social life, health and well-being. A survey of the history of the therapies is included as well as the processes and principles of these therapies as used by practicing music and art therapists.

Credits 3